OF FIRST SHOT TO LEAVE N. Y.

Girdling Tour.

By the Associated Press.
FLOYD BENNETT AIRPORT.
NEW YORK, July 28. Two powerful monoplanes took off within 18 minutes of each other on non-stop

The Helian monoplane "Cape Cod" manned by Russell Boardman of Boston and John Polak of New York, was described as the run away at exactly 5:40 p.m. (Morton time) and skinned away at an altitude of not more than 80 feet until it was lost to sight. They are heading for Istanbul, Turkey, 5,500 miles away.

The second plane to take off was that of Hugh Herndon Jr., former Princeton student and Clyde Pangborn veteran circus flyer. They tolled away at 5:18 a.m. (Morton time) on an intended flight around the world with Moscow, 5,400 miles away, as their first objective.

Weather Ideal

Weather conditions across the entire Atlantic were described as ideal for the flight by Dr. James S. Kimball, government meteorologist and unofficial starter.

Field officials feared the Boardman-Polak plane might meet with difficulties because of its great weight. It carried 718 gallons of gasoline and 25 gallons of 7,000 miles if necessary. It is propelled by a 300 horsepower Wright engine.

The plane has yellow wings with black trimmings, and a black and yellow fuselage with the words "Cape Cod" painted in blue.

They hope to eclipse the present doing distance record set by Coliad and Le Brix, who flew 4,912 miles non stop.

5,000 Cruising Headline

Handon and Pangborn's red monoplane has 500 horse-powered motor and is capable of cruising at 125 miles an hour. It carries 500 gallons of gasoline enough for 5,000 miles without a halt.

Their first attempt ten days ago at Roosevelt field almost cost them their lives as their over laden plane tried to rise at the end of the runway and almost crashed into a tangle of trees and telephone poles. They were forced to dump half of their gasoline to gain altitude to save themselves from crashing.

Although their plane has a slower gasoline speed than the men hope to beta the round-the-world record by flying longer distances. They have dual controls. Their monoplane is changed over.

Hendon was educated at Princeton and learned flying in France.

CHILE GOVERNMENT IN QUICK CHANGES

President Who Succeeded Ibanez Lasts Few Hours; New Leaders at Helm.

By The Associated Press
SANTIAGO, Chile, July 28 —

Alfonso Montero and Pedro Man-guerra—were again in charge of the government of Chile today, and foreign business interests indicated they had complete confidence in them.

Their first task was to straighten out the confused financial picture, with its problems of local banking, foreign exchange and foreign debts.

A survey of foreign business interests showed unanimous opinion that Montero is acting president, and Manguer as finance minister,
being the best men to handle Chile's emergency.

Americans have a stake of approximately less than $1,000,000,000 in the nation, and the British with large interests are vitally concerned. Americans control the principal products, nitrate and copper, on which the government depends for a large part of its revenue.

Montero, professor of law at the University of Chile and a firm adherent of Cárdenas for the people, has just given the government from Santiago yesterday after Opazo had been acting president only a few days in succession in Chile.
He was elected first to Agronomía and then to the senate, and is considered a man of high character

Hope Sustains All Facing Death Chair in Sing Sing

26 Condemned Men Believe Something Will Occur To Save Them from Penalty; Prisoners Serving Time Sentences Seek Education.

Herewith the United Press presents the third and last of a series of articles dealing with the population of the death house at Sing Sing and the present-day trend of major crimes.

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE
United Press Staff Correspondent
OSSING, N. Y., July 23.—Not one of the 26 death house prisoners at Sing Sing believes he will go to the chair.

Somewhere between the cell and the instrument which will blot them out, some night, in 172nd of a second, they believe there will come a staying hand. A higher court may intervene to give them a new trial. A reprieve may be allowed to present new evidence. Finally, the governor may find mitigation somewhere in their records or in their youth, or in the muddled brain that was the cause of their downfall and so grant them commutation.

It is this eternal hope that is allowed to linger with them until the night they are to go that keeps them, to outward appearance, the most contented of Sing Sing's citizens.

Age Average Lower.
To gain a comparative picture of the present population and that of the past, the records show that until the end of 1929 the average age of the 282 prisoners put to death at Sing Sing was 29 years, 4 months and 11 days. Now it has dropped to 27. Exclusive of the man who killed his wife and one "elderly" holdup man, today's average is 26 and a majority of the men are below that age.

Again referring to the statistics you find a monotonous recurrence not only in the type of crime, but in the weapons used. Out of the 282 convicted murderers in New York state, 108 performed the deed with revolvers, and 43 used guns. From that high point the list dwindled to the smaller categories of knives, poison, razor, and grizzly significant—"40 each weight."

Of this number, 114 were married, 28 were widowed, and one was divorced. Single men numbered 113, a little less than half the total. Only one was separated from his wife.

More Cheerful Outside.
But there is a brighter picture outside the death house, where even the little metal clamps that bind magazines are removed from their reading matter lest they cheat the law.

Here, in the main prison, fully half of the inhabitants are accepting the opportunity to repair the lamentable lack of education with which they entered prison.

More than 800 of them attended the prison school, getting the rudimentary elements of an education—reading, writing, arithmetic—during 224 school days last year. And 52 determined characters, fired with ambition, applied for and obtained permission to take advanced correspondence school courses.

The average prisoner cares little about fiction, and least of all about blood and thunder novels, mystery stories, or detective tales. Instead he asks for books on engineering, shop practice, technical work, and information that will help him to learn a trade. For many of them this "stretch" provides the first opportunity they have had to do anything but provide themselves a hazardous insecure and poor living through crime. Given regularity of work, their food and clothing, and a few hours a day in which time hangs heavy, and their natural resource is to books.

Officials Worried.
In general, with the prison sadly overcrowded, with a lack of laundry facilities and sanitation equipment, and with the state providing food for 2,200 and a population of nearly 2,600—Sing Sing officials are worried.

"If crime continues to increase and judges continue to sentence in proportion to the crime," they say, "we will be faced with a crisis."

"A crisis" may be a riot, though the word is seldom mentioned in official circles.

SHAW NOT FORCED TO SLEEP IN TENT

Noted Londoner Says He Finds Russia Not as Bad Off as Pictured.

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, July 23.—When Bernard Shaw came here to see how Russia was getting along under the Soviet, he thought things were so bad he'd have to live in a tent.

To be prepared, he brought one with him. Moreover, he had food, bedding and pillows in his duffle. Shaw told about it as a joke on himself in a speech in the Concert Hall of Columns, attended by workers, writers and educators, who were helping him to celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday.

"We were told there was no food or other necessities in Russia," said G. B. S. "After we crossed the border we found our equipment unnecessary, and we began throwing it away."

Shaw addressed his hearers as "comrades" and told them that when they had succeeded in their Communist revolution, the other nations would follow fast in their footsteps.

Referring to the fact that he was traveling with Lord and Lady Astor, whom he described as "very rich and great Londoners," he said, "It is not their fault, but the fault of the English proletariat for not having taken it away from them."

TWO CANDIDATES HAVE NO OPPONENTS IN RACE

CAMPAIGN expenses for Carter M. Patton, Republican, candidate for city solicitor, and J. B. Schneider, Democratic candidate for fifth ward councilman, would be at a minimum this year, for neither man will be opposed either in the primary or the Nov. 4 election unless names are written in the ballots at the primaries.

Patton at present holds the office which he is assured of again. He was assistant city solicitor in 1927, 1928 and 1929 and has been solicitor for the last two years. He is 28 years old, and lives at 184 Leader street. He is not married. Patton is a member of Sojourners Lodge No. 653, F. and A. M., exalted ruler of Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, Carley Lodge No. 51, Knights of Pythias and the Eagles. He also is a member of the Ohio State Bar association and the Marion County Bar association. J. B. Schneider is 63 years of age and lives at 369 south Prospect street. He is a former railroad man, and is affiliated with the Masonic lodge. He is married and is the father of one child.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, July 23.

ACCORDING to the lunar transits taking place in the heavens on this day there may be much disturbance, rearrangement of readjustment of the affairs, especially in the province of employment or in transactions with those in places of power, authority or dictation.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of change or readjustment of the affairs, especially in regard to employment and finance. A child born on this day should be talented and ambitious, but an ever searching ambition and want of thrift and prudence in handling its substance may prove detrimental.

GAS STATION BLAST CAUSED BY SPARK

Static Electricity Blamed for Explosion in Pumps.

A spark of static electricity generated when the metal nozzle of a gasoline hose was hung on the hook, is thought to have been responsible for two minor explosions damaging two gasoline pumps at the Texaco filling station at east Center and Greenwood streets last yesterday afternoon.

One of the attendants had just filled the tank of an automobile and hung the nozzle up on the metal hook, when an explosion took place in the pump, blowing out the glass at the top. In an instant a similar explosion took place in a second pump, the fire following a metal conduit under the ground from the first to the second pump. The fire department from the central station responded to a call sent in by the attendant although no flames followed the explosion. The damage was slight.

Weather Again Favors Playground Activities

The Y M C A playgrounds have been humming again after being inactive for about a week on account of rain. Regular programs have been resumed at all three grounds with attendance marks keeping up with those of earlier in the season.

The water playground, battle scheduled for last week is to be played Wednesday at the playground on Willow street, with Lincoln and the Shovel ground teams as guests. Two or three recreational baseball games are scheduled to be played as the program of the morning. Last week the contest was to have been held at the Central Junior High school diamonds, but the diamonds at Willow street are now in shape to hold tournament games on, due to the aid of city officials and the activity of the members of the Willow street ground. A back stop has been erected completing the preparations.

A "panis proof" lifeboat that is propelled by a Diesel engine has been installed on a German passenger liner, remaining aloft although its 148 occupants crowd toward the bow or stern.

AIRSHIP CREW NOW IN AKRON

Navy Men Go into Training for First Flight of Giant Dirigible.

By International News Service
AKRON, O., July 23.—Out of sight of the ocean and far from the salty sea air, 10 snappily-dressed officers and 50 blue-clad sailors of the U. S. navy have invaded this inland city and are rapidly learning the duties that will be theirs on the new mammoth dirigible, Akron, when she makes her initial flight, probably within the next six weeks.

Under the shadow of the gigantic hangar which houses their future sky-homes, these 60 men have held their first roll-call. Daily they scramble like squirrels up and down the girder paths of the airship, familiarizing themselves with every nook and cranny, every machine and fixture.

The arrival of this carefully picked crew of aviation experts has forced upon Akron citizens the realization that the world's largest airship soon will be complete and in operation. For more than a year the residents of the country's rubber capital have watched the monster air Leviathan grow from the mere semblance of a skeleton framework to a completed craft.

Formal christening of the craft will be celebrated Saturday, Aug. 3, with Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, officially naming the airship the "U. S. S. Akron." As she names the craft, she will release a flock of snow-white pigeons, symbolic of the peace for which the Akron was constructed.

Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of aeronautics of the United States navy department, will accept the Akron in the name of the navy from the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation, the builders.

Hundreds of other notables are expected to be present for the ceremony. Among them will be Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, skipper of the new ship, and former captain of the dirigible, Los Angeles.

A crowd of at least 100,000 spectators is expected to be present for the christening. Arrangements are being made to accommodate 50,000 automobiles on the airport field.

The giant craft will not be taken from its hangar for the christening. Gas cells are being installed now and interior wiring, piping and other last-minute details are being rushed to completion. A week before the christening it is hoped the craft can be cut loose from its moorings and allowed to float free under its own power.

OXHEAD "DIARY"

Margaret Young, a direct descendant of Brigham Young, is shown holding the oxhead bearing a notation made many years ago by the famous Mormon pioneer while on his pilgrimage across the Western plains. The oxhead, used as a sort of diary, bears the inscription: "Pioneers camped here June 3rd, 1847, making 15 miles today—all well." Brigham Young, the Mormon covered wagon days, celebration at Ogden, Utah.

Trial flights, of which there will be seven, each to test some important phase of the ship, are expected to start two or three weeks after the ceremonies in the dock.

The Italian government has offered a substantial prize for the domestic production of an outboard motor for boats what will successfully meet foreign competition.

FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT DIES

Unexpected Death Ends Notable Art Career of Mrs. Florence Schoenlaub.

Mrs. Florence F. Schoenlaub of Wheeling, W. Va., former resident of Marion, died at 2 p. m. Monday in Wheeling hospital following an illness of only a few days' duration. She was taken ill last Wednesday and removed to the hospital, where she underwent a major operation the same day. News of Mrs. Schoenlaub's death came as a shock to her relatives and many friends in Marion, where she had once been prominent in social and art circles and where she visited only a few weeks ago.

Was Successful Artist

Her death brought to a close a career of outstanding achievement as an artist. Since leaving Marion about seven years ago she had attained marked success as an interior decorator, having had charge of that work in large department stores in Youngstown and Wheeling. Since September 1925 she had been interior decorator with the Stone & Thomas store at Wheeling and prior to that served in the same capacity with the Strous & Hersberg store at Youngstown.

In recent years she visited various art centers in European countries in connection with her work with the Wheeling store, the largest of its kind in West Virginia. Her preliminary art training and experience were obtained in Marion studios.

Born in Marion County

Mrs. Schoenlaub was born in Pleasant township, Marion county, Sept. 30, 1886, to Benjamin F. Shurz and Margaret Owens Shurz. She was educated in the Marion public schools and graduated from high school here in 1906. She was united in marriage to Emerson W. Schoenlaub of Marion on June 8, 1911. She is survived by her husband and her mother.

Following brief services to be held at the Kepner funeral home in Wheeling at 8 o'clock tonight, the body will be brought to Marion for funeral rites at the home of the mother, Mrs. Margaret Shurz, 243 west Church street, at 4 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

LITERARY GENIUS

Barbara S. and Andrew John Kaufmann, 10, (above), have already written and illustrated a book all by themselves! However, that literary achievement doesn't thrill them as much as their toys. They are the children of Reginald Kaufmann, Geneva newspaper correspondent, and an author of note. Mrs. Kaufmann writes under the name of "Ruth Wright." So the youngsters seem to be chopping off the two "old blocks."

SAY WALDO THIEVES ALSO STOLE AUTOS

Cars Taken in Columbus and Here Traced to Burglars.

Thieves who took slot machines from the North End filling station and Plotner's restaurant in Waldo early last Thursday morning also stole two automobiles Wednesday night and Thursday morning, authorities said today.

The thieves are blamed for the theft of a Cadillac sedan in Columbus and the theft of another automobile in Marion belonging to Mrs. Guy Stoltz.

The Cadillac was found abandoned near the Stoltz home at Delaware avenue and State street, leading authorities to suspect that the Columbus car had been abandoned in favor of the automobile owned by Mrs. Stoltz. When golf clubs in the Stoltz car were found in the filling station at Waldo after the burglary Thursday morning, authorities were convinced that the same thieves were responsible.

Mrs. Stoltz's car has been found in a Columbus garage, where it evidently had been stored by the thieves after a return trip to Columbus.

PEACE CARAVAN TO BE HERE THURSDAY

Columbia University Students To Address Marion Groups at Y.

Miss Betty Wright and Miss Mary Martha Gleason of Columbia university, members of the Peace Caravan of the American Friends Service committee will address the Girl Reserves of Marion on Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A.

The American Friends Service committee for the last four years has taken as its task or aim, the building up of an international social and personal life that will prevent strife, either domestic or international.

Harding High, Vernon Junior High and Central Junior High Girl Reserve members will hear the two speakers who are one of 12 teams on this summer.

The Peace Caravans have proved valuable in creating interest and in developing young people into future peace leaders. In the summer of 1927, eight teams of college students went in groups of two's and three's for a 10 weeks' speaking campaign of peace education. Eleven teams in 1928 visited 16 states and through meetings held in churches, civic, business and children's groups, reached thousands with their literature and addresses.

The society was organized in 1917 to aid by practical service in relief work in war. The present program, also reaches many foreign countries.

ENGLAND'S FAIREST INVADE U. S. COURTS

Now that leading United States ladies have bowed at the Court of St. James, we find these English women reciprocating, but in a different manner. They are the members of the Wightman cup team who will represent their country in the international matches to be held Aug. 7-8. This picture, taken at Forest Hills, L. I., just before their first practice on American soil, shows, left to right: Eileen Whittingstall, Betty Nuthall, Mrs. W. F. Shepherd-Barron, Phyllis Mudford and Dorothy Round.

DELAY READING OF NEW CITY MEAT CODE

Proposed Ordinance Fails To Be Presented for Action by Council.

Confirmation of the appointment by Mayor L. Don Jones of H. O. Toms as a member of the city board of health and the transfer of $300 from the division of labor to the board of health, was the extent of the activities at the meeting of city council last night. The meat inspection ordinance scheduled for the second reading, was not presented. While members of council hesitated to comment upon the fate of the ordinance, it is understood that fear that it might not be self supporting, may result in its being carried over until the financial condition of the city is more encouraging. In spite of claims by sponsors of the measure to the contrary, they point out that fees paid for the inspection, would be ample to pay the costs of operating the department. Whether the ordinance will be presented at the next meeting of council for the second reading is problematical.

Daily Proverb: "None so old that he may not live a year; none so young but he may die today."

Two modern movie houses are to be erected in Athens, Greece. We take it that Athens proposes to stage an educational come-back and regain the distinction it so long held as the seat of wisdom.

The Chicago zoo, a paper of that city tells us, is to be open within the next few weeks to a new exposition of wild life. It was our impression that Chicago had one or more new expositions of wild life daily.

Following the seizure by the county authorities of equipment and the arrest of the manager, the dog races in Madison county have been declared off. Somebody's always taking the joy out of life!

In the face of the continuance of rioting over there, the Spanish cabinet might be forgiven for getting the idea that a republican form of government isn't the one, particular medicine for what's ailing Spain.

Washington scientists have established after painstaking investigation and analyses that the taste of honey bears traces of vinegar, lemon juice and the sting of ants. Isn't science wonderful?

Surgical operations and accidents have caused a citizen of Atlanta, Georgia, to enter a hospital twenty-nine times. It might be good financial judgment were he to build and equip a hospital of his own.

The chairman of the Anti-Saloon League of America charges that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, hides his wetness. How easy it is to be fooled. The way the thing looked to us, we thought he was trying to exploit it—quietly, of course.

As the result of a taxi war, the fare to any point within the District of Columbia is but a dime. It's a great snap for taxi patrons, and will be until the rival lines begin shooting up each other.

While a Chicago policeman was guarding a number of automobiles, some miscreant ran away with the policeman's car. An element of the Windy City's population seems to take delight in embarrassing the police up there, which is mighty unkind considering how little the police embarrass it.

Five persons were injured by a blast on Harry Hichman's yacht at Greenport, New York, Sunday, and the $100,000 yacht of M. B. Restovich, of Hollywood, sank the same day. You never read about any mishaps aboard the seagoing pleasure vessels of hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs. "There's a reason."

A Superb Structure.

Announcement has been made in Washington that the $14,500,000 structure across the Potomac river, the costliest and heaviest drawbridge in the world, has been practically completed by the federal government and will be formally opened as one of the features of the George Washington bicentennial celebration next year.

The bridge itself cost $7,500,000, inclusive of the $800,000 cost of the huge "draw" in its center, the balance of the $14,500,000 having been expended for the construction of the impressive white stone span which, bearing at an angle away from the superb alignment of the capital, the Washington monument, the pool and the Lincoln memorial, stretches from the memorial to Arlington cemetery on the Virginia side of the river.

The draw weighs more than 10,000 tons, but when the captain of any vessel fears that he can not clear the span, he simply has to utter a signal and that weight of steel and concrete rises into the air, but so carefully has the draw been balanced that the operation requires but a moment and a two-dollar expenditure of electricity. The total annual operating expense of the bridge is estimated at $20,000.

The United States has many larger bridges, many higher bridges, many bridges capable of carrying far more traffic, but the most of them were designed for utilitarian purposes chiefly and with little thought to the artistic and beautiful, in which respect we have lagged behind the Old world. But this Washington Memorial bridge will compare favorably with any bridge in any Old World capital in artistic merit and beautiful lines, if it does not, in fact, surpass all of them in these respects as it does in cost. It is in every way a fitting addition to the structural beauty of our national capital, which was originally designed to be and will soon be recognized as the most beautifully laid out on earth. As it stands today, its official structures are better grouped, far more commodious and, in the main, architecturally superior to those of any capital city of the world.

They Entertained the Public.

Two men who held places of far more than average importance in the public eye, each of whom had gained national recognition as head of the enterprise he initiated and developed, were taken by death last week. George A. Boeckling, of Sandusky in this state, and Al G. Barnes, of Indianapolis, Indiana. They died within a few hours of each other. Each was of humble origin, each attained success in the entertaining of the public and each died in his sixty-ninth year.

Thirty-six years ago Al G. Barnes, who was born Alphons George Barnes Stonehouse, up in Canada, started a wagon show at Glenwood Springs, Colorado, consisting of a trained pony act, a photograph and a picture machine. A man of fine initiative and great energy, he developed this humble beginning into one of the finest shows on the road—a forty-car show of exceptional merit and cleanliness, carrying 1,000 persons and hundreds of trained animals, among them a hundred dancing horses, and a hippopotamus and the famous Tusko, which was held to be and doubtless was the largest elephant in captivity. He took special pride in the remarkably fine band he carried and in his opening spectacle, which for its beauty and the quality of its vocal offerings, especially those of his stars, was without a peer, as all who saw it here will be ready to admit.

George Boeckling, a natural executive, an organizer and a builder, a man who dreamed dreams and made of them realities, saw a wonder summer resort extending out into the waters of Lake Erie when others saw merely a point of land, and the fruition of his vision is what is today known as Cedar Point, the largest and best known enterprise of its kind in Ohio—a resort possessed of a fine and commodious hotel, many cottages, a splendid beach as lake beaches go, and almost countless recreational and amusement features. His ability was speedily recognized outside the resort and amusement field, in which he had gained a nationwide reputation, and he became influential in the banking and other business circles in Sandusky and died a millionaire.

Three or four decades ago, when these men started to build up their enterprises, doubtless there were about the same proportion of pessimists as today, who saw little chance for the success of any undertaking; those who held them as many are inclined to hold today, that this great country of ours is no longer a land of opportunity. If that were true when Boeckling and Barnes made their starts, it must be that these two men made of it for themselves a land of opportunity. And that, all pessimism to the contrary, is what it is today—a land of opportunity for all those who have the will, and the courage, and the force of character to make it such.

Dinvo Nurin, has accomplished what many considered the impossible by making two miles under nine minutes, having broken the world record of 9:01.40 by covering the distance in eight minutes and 59.25 seconds last week, in Helsinki. Despite his advancing years, he is still the "Phantom Finn."

The army chemical warfare service in Washington has demonstrated that mustard gas may be sprayed from a plane over an enemy, but it hasn't as yet evolved a plan to protect the pilot of the spraying plane. A mere detail!

Agriculture's "Rosy" Future.

Agricultural talk is predominantly bullish, and has been for so long that "the poor farmer" is a ready phrase in any conversation.

Bullish tendencies in speculation concerning what the farmer may, or may not, be coming to consequently stand out like prize corn in a poor corn field. And to Alexander Legge, former chairman of the federal farm board, goes the credit for an outspoken bullish statement.

In a speech in Chicago, last week, Mr. Legge observed that "only half of the cultivated farm land of this country is now under indebtedness. I defy you," he challenged his audience, "to find a condition as favorable in other industries, including the railroads or other large corporations." Mr. Legge asserted further that agriculture has an assured future for the next thirty years.

This is something like a hearty guffaw in the middle of the services over the supposedly dead, and the mourners naturally feel somewhat shocked, not to mention the unmentionable sentiments of the supposed corpse. One remembers, without saying so, that Mr. Legge is supposed to know what he is talking about, and lets it go at that.

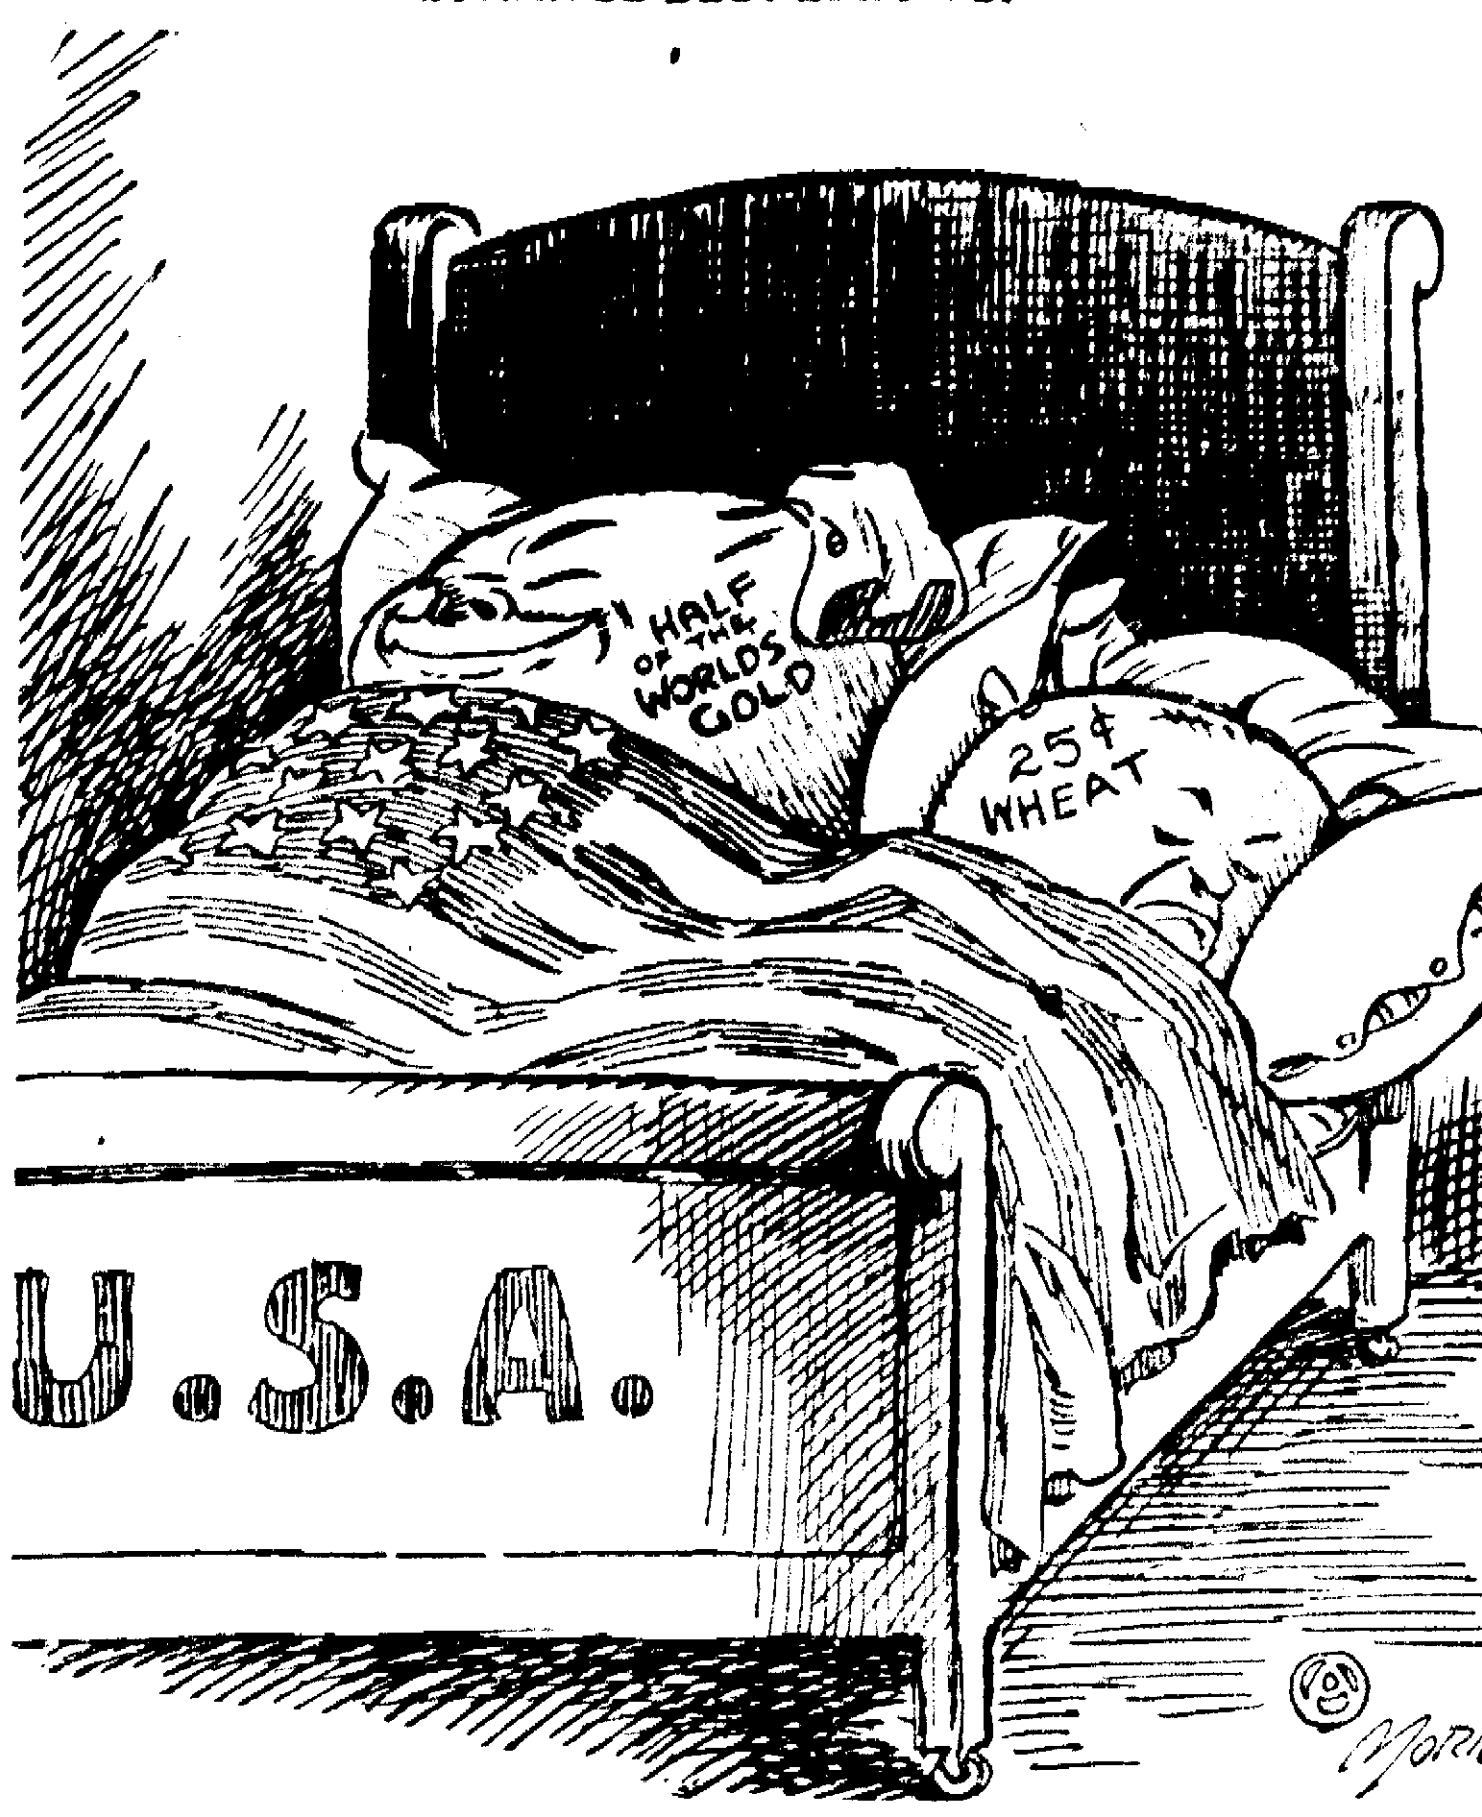

No one seems to be able to understand just what is the matter with the farmer. Some people think it is because he's frightened of the farm board, but only a little while ago he was enthusiastic about the farm board. Others think it is the bumper crop that's the trouble, but considering the total production of the United States, there is no bumper crop. Hard-to-mouth buying, Russia, the world depression—all are named, but none is sufficient to satisfy the seeker for the truth.

Following an inspection trip as far west as Kansas City, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, declares that "times aren't as bad as people think they are." Of course not, but if that view is spread it's going to be a handicap to a lot of people who are looking ahead to the coming fall and winter to getting five food and clothing, permitting them to establish a gasoline fund for the coming spring and summer.

Four churches in Jalapa, Mexico, were set afire and damaged by a mob, Saturday night, while two priests were killed in a raid on a church in Vera Cruz. Let us be glad that we have religious liberty up here even though it is somewhat circumscribed in presidential years.

The largest building project in the world was undertaken Monday, when workmen began excavating for the "Radio City" in New York, sponsored by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., which is to give New Yorkers a $250,000,000 "musical and entertainment center." From the four words quoted, we take it to be the plan of the radio people to cut out the voiceless movie star guest singers, the crooners, jazz and the jokes which were math-craters when Bill Nye was a boy.

THE WORLD COURT AT WORK.

ALTHOUGH it has decided scores of cases since its origin in 1921 the Permanent Court of International Justice has come into wider prominence this week with the hearings on the question of the Austro-German Customs union. No case ever brought before the court has had the vast implications for the future of Europe that are implicit in this project of a Teutonic commercial empire.

Completed their defense of the right of Austria to unite with Germany for purposes of levying a single tariff. French, Italian, Belgian and Czechoslovakian lawyers are busy with their opposition to the project. The whole controversy has been kept on the plane of a legal question and no petty political recriminations have entered.

This in itself marks an important advance in international law. Even two decades ago such a momentous question as this would have been thrashed out in the channels of diplomacy, made a political football and decided finally either by diplomatic pressure or by resort to war. Today the matter, which essentially is a legal question, is being determined in a court of law.

To be sure, the opinion of the court will be advisory and will have to be accepted by the council of the League of Nations before it is effective. But the prestige of the court should be enough, backed by the public opinion of the world, to make the settlement final. Even the most pessimistic observers are obliged to admit that there are some signs of progress in the conduct of foreign affairs. Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE SNOW AT SINAIA.

Princess Elena, of Roumania, was yesterday married to Mr. Anthony Hagen, who calls himself Archduke Anton of Austria, though to be sure there is no Austrian kingdom or empire or anything of that kind with an excuse for supporting or tolerating archdukes. The wedding was brilliant and costly. Elena is somewhat more than tolerably handsome. Many of the peasants of Roumania are hungry.

Elena has ever been a staunch supporter of her mother, the Dowager Queen Marie. One feels reasonably certain that Archduke Anton is in for a very copious dose of mother-in-law. Elena, with her good looks, has been an asset to the unwittingly aging queen in her publicity stunts. Perhaps the really handsome young man from Austria will join the troupe. Austria is cruelly hit by financial depression and fears national bankruptcy.

King Charles, of Hohenzollern, the Roumanian monarch, graced the wedding with his smiling presence. So did chubby ex-King Michael, whose mother was present. She was unavoidably detained in London, whether she had gone after being exiled by King Charles because she objected to the royal mistress with red hair and considerable obesity.

The wedding was held at Sinaia, and on Saturday, the day before the ceremony, there was a great rain at Sinaia which finally turned to snow. This report of July snow at Sinaia is, one thinks, really interesting. —Cleveland Plain Dealer, July 27.

Dinner Stories.

"Women are never pigilists." "Maybe not exactly," replied Miss Cayenne; "but I know one who said her husband was a prize. If he was, she is now a prize fighter."

She: "Am I the first girl you ever kissed?" He: "Now that I get a good look at you, you do look kinda familiar."

"Quick, doctor, do something! I was playing a mouth organ and swallowed it." "Keep calm, sir, and be thankful you were not playing the piano."

"Jim, you look the picture of success." "Yish! Don't call me that, some one might try to frame me."

Miss Rigns: "Did you see my picture in the beauty advertisement?" Miss Ryval: "I think I did. Wasn't that you with the word 'Before' printed underneath?"

Marion—Seen Through Local Eyes.

The following is the answer of one citizen to the question, "What is Wrong with Marion?"—the first in the questionnaire circulated by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer to get a comprehensive insight into the community feeling regarding our home city, in the hope of arriving at a remedy for handicaps, if any, from which Marion may suffer. From day to day, answers of various citizens to the same question will be given publicly on this page.

In my opinion nothing is wrong with Marion. It is the attitude of the people. I have been in business in Marion for twelve years, and it is as good a business town as you will find anywhere. Conditions are bad now and every one will have to work harder, think harder and be satisfied with less until conditions get better.

To Safeguard Children.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

Recently President Hoover inaugurated the first White House conference on child health and protection. This conference was brought about after many months of careful planning and study by the leading specialists of the country.

The conference was unusual. Never before has there been any such concerted program looking to improvement in the general health and condition of our young citizens.

At the opening of the conference, President Hoover clearly stated the purpose of the gathering. He said that "the fundamental purpose of this conference is to set forth an understanding of these categories which will assure to the child health in mind and body."

In his concluding report, Dr. Lee Egan Wilbur included twenty fundamental principles for child health and protection. Space does not permit me to recite all, but the following are important.

Every prospective mother should have suitable information and medical supervision during the prenatal period, competent care at confinement.

Every child should receive periodical health examinations before and during the school period.

Every child should have regular dental examinations and care. Every child should be protected from the "teething diseases." He is entitled to be protected from impure milk and food.

Every child should have proper sleeping rooms, diet, hours of sleep and play. The parents should receive expert information as to the needs of children in these matters.

Every child should attend a school which has proper ventilation, heating, ventilation and sanitation. For younger children, kindergarten and nursery schools should be provided to supplement home care.

At the next meeting of this energetic and competent group of scientists, more concrete steps in the program will undoubtedly be announced. In order that this campaign may be successful, it will require the cooperation of every one. It is not a job for the physician alone. All mothers and fathers must do their share.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A READER: Q—What can be done for indigestion and what is the usual cause? Does it ever cause cancer?

A—Proper diet and regular elimination should be of general benefit under the circumstances. The trouble is usually due to some fault in the diet. One side of the symptoms commonly associated with poor digestion and improper elimination. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

MRS. J. R. H. Q—Where can I have well water analyzed and what is the charge for such service?

A—Apply at your local board of health for full information about these lines.

MRS. J. Q—What do you advise for the itch?

A—Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

AAA. Q—What do you advise for fallen stomach?

A—Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

IWWG. Q—Would vision in one eye—near-sightedness be apt to affect the other eye to the extent of becoming cross-eyed? Would glasses be corrective in such a case?

A—What do you advise to stop the habit of biting the fingernails?

A—Necessary. Have the eyes properly tested and then determine if any treatment can be outlined. Properly fitted glasses would probably be of general advantage.

2. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J.A.B. Q—What causes an empty feeling in the stomach soon after eating?

A—This is due to hyperacidity and poor digestion. Watch your diet and be sure that the system is kept in proper condition. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

MRS. EGO. Q—My eight months old baby has a light rash on her face. She is breast fed and seems well in every way. Would teething be a possible cause?

A—It is probable that the baby's stomach is not functioning as it should—the rash may be due to indigestion or acidity. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Every One His Own Rabbit.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The scientists of today are an experter, especially in the fields of chemistry and toxicology. He has to have at hand all the most recent and complete of bird-like, while, an apparently harmless supply of biological subjects for experimentation. They may be rabbits, or a guinea pig, or a rat. A biologist like this is always a conditional reflex, and as the most helpful subjects. A student of bacteriology may prefer to use rabbits. A specialist in bubonic plague may choose rats.

It is, however, not infrequently the case that no adequate substitute can be found for the human being. The doctor, the guinea pig, the rabbit, the rat, may not react to a medication with a certain sort of virus in the same way that a man does. In such cases, if the scientific investigator is sufficiently eager to discover the truth, he must be his own rabbit. He must try the experiment on himself. He must run the risk, and sometimes no slight risk it is, of becoming a martyr to science.

For instance take the subject of "water poisoning." It is hard to get now pure water can poison any one, but I have known a number of cases. Recently the biochemist, made a special study of this problem. In a certain deep coal mine, under surface in England, the heat was intense. One man is recorded to have lost eighteen points in the course of a single shift. If the miners drank more than a quart of water during a shift they suffered from excruciating painful cramps in stomach or back or shoulders. It was as sure as sea water, and the miners refused to touch water after the coming of the flood in the mine's body.

The solution of the problem was to supply the miners with partially salt water for drinking purposes. Although presumably not very palatable, the miners gulped it down with avidity. The cramps were no longer present, and the fatigue of the miners was much reduced. And as by dissolving a little salt in plain drinking water.

Every now and then we read in the news paper of people being killed or badly hurt by from eating "canned goods." The technical name of it, familiar to every one, is ptomaine poison. But many different substances may cause illness or death. For example, recall the case of the eight people at Loch Maree, in 1922, who ate water-dunk paste sandwiches. Nothing could be done to save them. A paralysis, which began in their eyes, gradually spread until the process of breathing ceased and death ensued. Scientific investigation disclosed that the poison came from a bacillus called botulinus. The biochemist, J. H. S. Haldane, has stated that this is the most poisonous of all known substances which can be taken by the mouth. Indeed, he has gone so far as to say that one man can carry enough of these bacilli within him to poison the entire human race. Fortunately there is a simple remedy. The bacilli is killed by cooking.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Ohio and the Vice Presidency.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

It is a singular fact that while Ohio has been busy with the election of her sons to the office of President of the United States, no Ohio man has ever been elected to the vice presidency. Two Ohio men were candidates for the office—both Democrats, George H. Pendleton and Allen G. Thurman, both of whom were defeated.

Three men who were born in the state have been elected to the vice presidency, but they were citizens of other states at the time of their election. They were Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana; Charles G. Dawes, of Illinois, and Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana.

Though the duties and responsibilities of the vice presidency are light, as compared with those of the presidency, more than twice as many vice-presidents have died natural deaths while in office as have presidents. They were George Clinton, in 1812; Elbridge Gerry, in 1814; William R. King, in 1833; Henry Wilson, in 1875; Thomas A. Hendricks, in 1885; George A. Hobart, in 1890, and James S. Sherman, in 1912.

While six presidents have died in office, three of them died at the hands of assassins. William Henry Harrison, Taylor and Harding died natural deaths. While Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley were murdered.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Friday, July 23, 1891, that State Senator Frederick L. H. Van Ruskirk declared that Marion was a source of pollution of the Scioto river.

Richwood people leased something like 6,000 acres of land looking to the development of oil and gas in the Richwood area.

Corn and oats were suffering as the result of a pest of grasshoppers. In those days no one thought of seeking federal aid.

The Star reported the birth of a son, the night before, to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Irwin, of Bellefonte avenue. Marion was able to get but three hits off Myers and was shut out, while Lancaster scored seven runs off nine hits of Gouliatt and five errors. The fact that Marion was talking about giving up the club had a bad effect on the team.

It seems probable that such opera capers could be gazzetized into one property, and they are. When the opera, luxuriously bearded and robed attendants seem to fly from a train, bowing, scraping and murmuring "bonjour."

No matter how trifling the purchase, customer must undergo the grand parade to the brass of cashiers where it is received by hand in a series of packages. A sale that would require two in New York with all the fuss here takes about a half hour.

THE PENALTY

OF GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age-slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet, it is not at all necessary. Gray hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incapable. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shift.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, spring-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restore hair to its original girlhood color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of setting brunette shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprising what successful, youthifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good drug store and get rid of the "age penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you; if not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Eckard Drug or your own drug store.—The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.—Adv.

NO WAGE CUT PLANNED

Hoover Gets Assurance Pay Schedule Will Be Maintained

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 28—The administration's alarm over reports that the United States Steel corporation, long a barometer of American industry, contemplated a reduction in workers' wages has been relieved, it was learned today, by officials informing President Hoover that present wage levels will be maintained indefinitely.

The giant corporation, which has been a leader on the New York stock exchange for a decade, may reduce the salaries of its officers, it was said, but will leave unchanged the present scale of wages paid to ordinary workers. This assurance was reported to have been communicated directly to President Hoover.

PROBE REVEALS NO TRACE OF MURDER

Officials Find Girl Student Slain on Indian Reservation Misrepresented Area.

By The Associated Press

WHITE RIVER APACHE RESERVATION, Ariz., July 28—Officials investigating the killing of Henrietta Schermer, 23-year-old anthropology research student, said today they had learned she had acquaintances here to believe she was older and more experienced than she was.

White residents of the reservation were quoted as saying they had understood she was "more than 30 years old," and had been married, had two children in the east and had dropped her married name during her research work.

Officials believed she allowed this understanding to exist so she could pursue her studies of Indian life and language without supervision. Practically every Indian service official she met, including James M. Stewart of the Indian land office, had attempted to dissuade the young Columbia university student from her determination to delve unchaperoned into Apache affairs.

Dressed in Indian dancing girl's costume, her body was found in a ravine near Fort Apache last Friday. Her fatal stabbing preceded apparently by assault, remained a mystery. Seven Apaches and a white man were questioned and released.

Northwest Crops Menaced by Horde of Grasshoppers

Science Seeks Means To Stem Advance of Insect Plague in Five States; Farmers Drop Field Work To Aid Fight.

By The Associated Press
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 28—Science was fighting today to stem the tide of hordes of creeping, hopping and flying grasshoppers, which are playing havoc with the crops of Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota. At Des Moines, plans were being made for a meeting of entomologists and agricultural leaders to devise means of combatting the hordes of insects which have moved relentlessly across the Missouri river eastward. Iowa state officials sought an appropriation of $50,000 to fight the plague. Meanwhile, militia farmers armed with poison mixtures, returned to the fight. In some Minnesota counties the situation was so bad that other farm activities were suspended to leave the farmer free to war against the pests.

More than 150,000 acres in northwest Minnesota have been nearly ruined from the harvest picture. The county is estimated to have suffered a 50 per cent loss in grain crops. In a dozen adjacent counties the defense fight goes on with local infestations reported in more than half of the counties in the state.

A. G. Ruffles, state entomologist, said that unless weather conditions shift from hot and dry, that destruction will continue for many weeks and extend into a far wider zone. Just now weather conditions for the "hoppers" are ideal, he said.

Bran, molasses and poisons are combined to form the ammunition for the defense.

Millions are killed, Ruffles said, but millions arise to take their place, advancing to the green fields ahead. Some areas regarded free of the pests at sundown have been swarming with them the following noon.

Motorists in infested areas find it necessary to cover radiators to prevent the "hoppers" from stopping air circulation.

Iowa state officials said the loss in their state had not been as great as in Nebraska or South Dakota. In Nebraska 63 of the state's 93 counties have been infested.

speculation. Wait until the next boom comes, until your seat for $750,000, at least.

IN AUSTRALIA have been found fragments of a young woman who lived when "human beings were still attempting to walk erect and talk articulately."

Here is "the most primitive complete human skull ever discovered." The back of the skull, you will be sorry to hear, "resembles that of an anthropoid ape."

The lady, who lived, perhaps, when Australia was not yet separated from the continent, had a brain cavity about half that of a modern human being.

And, most interesting, she proves that the muscular system, "by means of which man maintains an erect posture, dominates the intellectual system."

However the intellectual system also dominates the muscular. It was intellectual curiosity that made our primitive ancestors stand on their hind legs to look above the deep grass and bushes, to spy out dangers.

Later, that intellectual curiosity made us stand still straighter, and turn our skulls backward, that we might look at the stars.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW, praising Russians, their methods, asks, "Why did not England begin this instead of Russia?"

Such remarks worry the good "capitalists" of all countries. Let Emma Goldman, Upton Sinclair, or some other seriously professional radical praise Russia. That doesn't matter. But you cannot "laugh off" Shaw, although his opinions mean less than those of the real radical.

The worst of it is that newspapers everywhere print what Shaw says and capital is very timid, never more so than now. When you mention Russia the capitalist feels like Father at the sound of the word, "Nothing."

Money's timidity is one cause of our trouble. It hides away, instead of going to work. Adolph S. Ochs presents a less serious problem than unemployed money. While money remains idle men must be idle.

"MODEL BOY" GETS PRISON SENTENCE

Varner Corry, 15, Pays Penalty for Slaying of Policeman.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 28—A 15-year-old "model boy" who shot a policeman to death when ordered out of a high school swimming pool was sentenced to 18 years in Joliet penitentiary.

His teacher called Varner Corry a "model" pupil. Allentists testified the boy had an "underdeveloped sense of moral values."

Judge Joseph Sabath, who heard the case after the boy pleaded not guilty, read a seven and one-half page summary of the case, severely criticizing the parents and imposing a penitentiary sentence despite the lad's youth. He pointed out that he had made arrangements with Warden Henry C. Hill for Corry's incarceration and that he would be eligible for parole in 10 years and 3 months, at the age of 25.

Varner, a younger brother and another boy broke into a school building to go swimming and were ordered out of the pool by Smith. Varner shot him with a stolen revolver he was carrying.

WORKMEN GROOM FAIRGROUND OVAL FOR SHORT SHIP RACE

SPORT OF KINGS DUE FOR NIGHT INAUGURAL HERE NEXT MONDAY

200 Horses Expected as Local Fanciers Play Host to Reinsmen.

WITH the opening of the first night racing meeting in Marion less than a week in the future, thoughts of local sportsmen are rapidly shifting toward the Sport of Kings. For the second time this summer local fanciers will play host next week to a horde of the finest horses and best known drivers in the racing Grand and Short Ship circuits. The meeting will get under way on Monday night at 8 p. m. and continue through Friday. Five nights of racing are on the books at present with Saturday held open for the staging of any events which may be halted during the week by inclement weather.

The fairground oval is fairly humming with activity this week as workmen of the C. D. & M. Electric company install the mammoth lighting system which will flood the track with artificial daylight for the races. There will be no dearth of light for the events.

Situated on the inside of the oval are 54 poles, spaced 50 feet apart, each carrying a floodlight of 1,500 watts intensity. Added to the 54 lights on the inside of the track are six others of the same intensity located on the outside of the track on the home stretch. Four more will be located along the top of the grandstand. These added lights along the home stretch will assure patrons of the sport ample light to witness the thrilling finishes which always mark the close of many of the Short Ship events here.

Reservations for stall room for the horses are already being received by local racing officials. Frank Foster, secretary of the Marion association estimates the probable number of horses here for the events at 200. There were approximately 175 here for the first meeting of this summer, held in June.

Racing partisans are certain to be pleased by the announcement concerning the price of admission to the races next week. The cost of general admission has been slashed in half for this meeting. Grandstand boxes may be reserved any time this week.

COLUMBUS SUBDUES INDIANAPOLIS TRIBE

Association Sluggers Fatten Batting Averages as Pitchers Are Ineffective.

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 23.—St. Paul has just taken charge of the American Association championship race, but the Athletics are still working hard on their individual batting averages.

Minneapolis, Columbus and St. Paul did some especially heavy work with the bats yesterday, the Athletics leading the day of walling with 22 hits off four Kansas City pitchers. Columbus took four Indianapolis hurlers for a 10-hit ride, while the Saints milled three Milwaukee pitchers for 18 safeties.

The Millers walloped Kansas City 17 to 10, with Spencer Harris and Art Ruble producing five single each.

St. Paul used its 18 hits for a 10 to 2 victory over Milwaukee in the opening game of the series. Cedric Durst led the assault with a home run and two singles.

Louisville opened the gates of Parkway field for the annual "Knebekamp day" in honor of the owner of the club, and more than 18,000 non-paying customers watched Toledo trip the Colonels 10 to 2.

Columbus moved into third place by walloping Indianapolis 15 to 3, in a night game. Marvin Gudat gave the Indians only six hits.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

It looks like the First Presbyterians are the champions of the No. 2 Sunday school league! St. Paul Lutherans, after a brilliant start, are fading rapidly into the background, and there is only one other team which has a chance to overtake the Presbies.

That is the Christian Seniors and while they are not to be taken lightly it isn't probable that they will step at a fast enough clip the rest of the season to lead in first place.

The Presbyterians boosted their leadership over the rest of the league to a full game yesterday, handing Forest Lawn a 2-1 beating while St. Paul, their closest rival at that time, was being smacked around in 7-4 fashion by the Christian No. 1 side. St. Paul dropped into third place by taking the beating, Christian Seniors taking possession of the runner-up post by staying off a seventh inning rally to beat the tail-end Wesley team 4-3.

Reformed Beats U. S. In the only other game in which none of the three contenders figured First Reformed took a 3-0 victory from United Brethren, Leltoy Klingel, who as far as the records show, never pitched a game before in his life, took the mound for Reformed and held the United Brethren batters to a pair of hits while his mates were clubbing off eight safeties off the offerings of "Dutch" Zuppan, U. S. mound artist. The result of this game puts these two teams in a tie for sixth place.

Forest Lawn and the Presbyterians staged a nip and tuck battle all through their seven innings at Garfield park. The Presbies managed to scrape together a two run advantage over the east side entry and held it until the final inning when the losers staged a short-

His only thought has been to try to obtain material to make the club a winner.

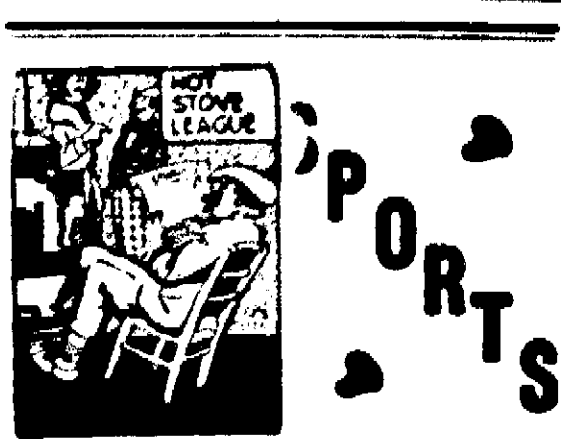

The statement followed reports that Bush would be replaced by Urban "Red" Faber, spitball pitcher who has been with the Sox for the past eighteen seasons.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

CALVARY Evangelical Sunday school intends to advance a step nearer the No. 1 church league today if there is any possible way to do it. The Church school team will have their Sunday school band at Lincoln park ready to foot their horns at the times calculated to do the most good.

Calvary clashes with Epworth No. 1 team. The former is now in a tie for first place, the latter in fifth, but still one of the most dangerous teams in the league.

Fido Robbins, acting manager of Calvary in the absence of Bill Har-ruff, has announced as his starting pitcher, Rube Gruber, the speedball artist. Robbins is counting on Gruber holding the Methodists in check but he will have L. Messenger ready to mount the hill should Clark's proteges take too kindly to Gruber's slants.

Bob Gamble will start the game for Epworth. If he pitches as he has been for the last several games he will probably finish it too.

The second headline battle of today will feature the Lee Street Presbyterians and St. Mary's Irish. The Irish are tied for first with Calvary and Lee Street is well down the line but it isn't safe to bet any money on either team today.

The Irish should win but there is no assurance they will. Lee Street seems to be getting the edge lately that it would like to finish in the first division. When a team with their potential ability gets that notion in their cranium there are certain to be some bad evenings around for the other teams.

Epworth Bishops and Trinity Baptists, both first division teams at present will take on two teams that are tied for last place but even that doesn't assure victory for the former. In fact, looking back over the record of upsets this season it would be fairer to bet on the tail-enders. There simply are no guarantees "the bug" this year and if the Trinity and the Bishops win today it will be because they play some good baseball.

Harking back to the first paragraph I might suggest to Calvary that a succession of base hits will do them considerably more good than the band. And don't play "Give Me Something To Remember You By" when John Clark's proteges are batting. They may think you mean it and accommodate you.

BUCS ASSUME ROLE OF TROUBLEMAKER IN NATIONAL FLAG RACE

Pirates Down New York Giants 8-6 for Fifth Consecutive Victory.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer. Going nowhere in particular themselves, Jewel Ent' Pittsburgh Pirates apparently have decided to assume their customary late-season role—trouble makers for the rest of the National league.

Just a month ago the Pirates had won 23 games and lost 38. Since then they have won 19 games out of 29 for the quite respectable percentage of .655. They won their fifth straight victory yesterday, walloping the third place New York Giants, 8 to 6, although Outhit, 14 to 10.

The second place Chicago Cubs fell to a point eight and one-half games behind St. Louis when they accepted a 7-6 beating from the Phillies. Home runs by Buzz Arlett and Pinky Whitney, each with a man on the base, furnished the Phils with a lead the Cubs couldn't overcome.

Other National league clubs had a day off.

The American league situation remained unchanged as the Philadelphia Athletics nosed out the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 4 on Eric McNair's tenth inning home run. Rube Walberg chalked up his sixteenth victory of the year.

The Washington Senators won a free-bitting game from Cleveland, 11-7. Joe Kuhel's two doubles and a single driving in three Senator runs.

Fabe Ruth's twenty-seventh homer failed to save the New York Yankees from an 8-7 beating by the Chicago White Sox in the first game of a doubleheader but 17 assorted singles, doubles and triples gave them the nightcap, 12-3.

The Boston Red Sox bunched seven hits for eight runs in the fourth inning to wallopp Detroit 13-4.

Bobby Not Only Golfer Who Holds All Major Crowns

By The Associated Press. DETROIT.—Now that Bobby Jones has put his "grand slam" of golf away in old lace and lavender, a search reveals that there remain a couple of golfers who hold "perfect hands" and are still around with human optimism trying to better them.

They are a pair of gentlemen from Detroit, and one was laying the nucleus of his "hand" while the other was still an amateur—a dour World War veteran from Scotland who had come to America to try to forget the horrors of gun fire which had crippled him and disrupted his formerly placid existence. They are: Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour.

The "grand slam" in this particular instance is composed of all the major tournaments in which professional golfers are eligible to compete, in short, the American open, British open, P. G. A. one open, British open—Canadian Western open and Metro open.

Both of the campaigners out their string this year, who won his first American championship back in 1914, years was the "big shot" of professional ranks, waited until time ago to win his first championship.

He defeated Percy Allis, a hole playoff, and in addition winning the only major title previously had eluded him, promise made after an injury showing in the winter when he would annex one big season. He had faltered in the Western and An opens.

Hagen's record shows the won the U. S. open in 1914 at the British open in 1922, 1929, and the Professionals' championship five times, breaking through in 1921. He won the Metropolitan and W open titles four times each.

525 GOLFERS FIGHT FOR AMATEUR CROWN

20 Scattered Golf Links Are Scene of Public Links Competition.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 23.—On 20 scattered links today 525 golfers will battle away for 150 places in the national amateur championship to be held at the Beverly Country club, Chicago, Aug. 31 to Sept. 5.

Thirty-six holes of medal play was today's program, the survivors to go to Chicago where another 36-hole medal play test will cut the field to 32 for the championship's match play rounds.

The Chicago district, where 128 will compete for 34 places, leads all the rest in number of entries. In New York, 65 will seek 19 places.

Virtually all this country's leading amateurs will be seeking to qualify in one district or another. The New York district test at the Baltusor club, Short Hills, N. J., has drawn such stars as T. Phillip Perkins, former British amateur champion; George Voigt, Jess Sweetser, George Dunlap and Eugene Homans.

At Seattle the would-be qualifiers include Don Moe, Frank Dolp, Dr. O. F. Willing and Phillips Finlay. Maurice McCarthy and Charley Seaver will try to qualify at Los Angeles and William Lawson Little, Jr., at Denver. Seven former champions have entered the lists including Sweetser, Bob Gardner, Max Marston, Francis Olmest, Jess Guilford, Chick Evans and Harrison R. Johnston of Minneapolis.

WHEAT SLUMPS TO NEW LOWS

Prices Drop as Heat Wave Shows Signs of Breaking in Crop Belt.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 28—Grain prices averaged lower today, influenced by indications of a break-up of the heat wave that threatened hopes of bumper crops. Wheat established new low records for the season. Opening unchanged to 1.4 cent up, corn soon underwent a general sag.

Wheat started unchanged to 3-8 off and later declined all around. Price downturns in corn were checked by absence of rain. Much lower temperatures, however, were noted in places where 100 degrees had prevailed, and forecasts pointed to showers tonight. Auspicious reports as to corn crop progress were received from western Iowa, but advices regarding Nebraska and South Dakota were less satisfactory. Arrivals of corn in Chicago totaled only 173 cars, compared with 496 yesterday.

General selling of corn followed official predictions of cooler weather and showers in the corn belt. On the set-backs, December corn representing the new crop went to a new low price record for 1931. Sympathizing with corn weakness, September and December wheat contracts also outdrew the lowest levels heretofore reached in 1931, and hovered near the all time bottom record for any future delivery. Wheat selling appeared to be chiefly hedging, with speculative interest at a lowebb. Oats followed other grains.

Provisions were neglected.

Midget Girl Sets New Aquatic Record in Defeating Champion

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK—The women's national swimming championships have come and gone, and it's not Helene Madison, Seattle marvel, lovers of the sport are talking about those hot days on the beaches around Manhattan.

And this despite the fact that Helen, a swimming team of one, took four firsts.

The new star of the girl swimming ranks, considered almost a certainty for the American Olympic team next year is Katherine Rawls from Hollywood, Fla., who entered the meet unattached.

In physical makeup, Katherine is a direct antithesis of the powerful Seattle girl. Katherine, only 14, is less than five feet tall, and weighs something under 100 pounds.

Yet Katherine carried away two championships, one of which set a world's record and the other an American record, and one second place.

Prior to the meet, Katherine was known mainly as a diving "prodigy." However, at the start of the meet, Katherine decided to enter in the diving from the high board. The next day her reason became apparent. She was saving her energy for the 50-meter event. And this though the fact was a "miracle" for the defendant champion, Eleanor Holm, of the Women's Swimming Association of New York.

However, Katherine not only beat the pretty New York girl by 20 yards, but surpassed her world's record of 3:17 with a mark of 3:13.5.

She then went ahead and won the 25-yard breast stroke in 3:13.2, a new American record, and on the final day of the meet proved that reports of her diving talent were correct by finishing a close second to Georgia Coleman of Los Angeles in the fancy diving competition.

ZEB STOUT WINS VERDICT BY JURY

Industrial Commission Denied Judgment Against Local Auto Dealer.

A verdict for Zeb Stout, defendant in an action brought by the industrial commission of Ohio to recover money paid for injuries sustained by Bernard H. Rowe while employed at the Stout Used Car Co., was returned by a jury in municipal court yesterday afternoon.

The verdict was based on the grounds that Rowe, who, according to the defendant, had been employed for the exclusive purpose of cleaning and painting cars, had received his injury while repairing an engine.

Money awarded Rowe by the industrial commission on several occasions since the accident in September, 1929, totaled $618.74. The action was brought by the commission to compel Stout to reimburse the state in this amount.

In his testimony yesterday Rowe said he had been hired to do all kinds of work around the garage and on the afternoon of the accident, he was testing spark plugs with a screwdriver when it accidentally dropped from his hand into the fan and was thrown against his face with such force as to cut through the lower lid of his right eye causing serious injury.

Stout in his testimony said he had instructed Rowe not to attempt any repairs on any of the cars and on the day of the accident had given him specific instructions not to attempt to repair the engine he was working on when injured.

Gift Clubs Aid Youth Beat Par

By The Associated Press
ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 28—If somebody will give Carl Dann, Jr. another new set of golf clubs, he'll qualify for the National amateur tournament away out in front of the Orlando, Fla., college student may qualify for the National meet in Atlanta, July 23, even if no new set is forthcoming, for he has a new bagful of clubs now, and thereby hangs a tale.

Thomas Shibe, president of the Philadelphia Athletics, a friend of the Florida youth, sent him a set of clubs as a gift.

Dann, vacationing here, and incidentally tuning up for the sectional qualifying test, took his new clubs out on the Asheville country club layout "just to give them a trial."

Net result for 13 holes seven birdies, 11 holes in par. Total 68 strokes, seven less than par, and four strokes less than the course record.

Playing with Dann during his trial of Mr. Shibe's clubs, were Alan Smith, city champion; George Olin, Jr., club pro, and Houston Arbogast, assistant coach at Asheville School for Boys.

Setting new course records is not a new experience for Dann. In the qualifying round of the Southern amateur at Greensboro, N. C., in 1928, Carl mastered the course and overcame the handicap of a driving club to score a 69, win the medal honors and set a new course record.

Young Dann is a student at Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla.

Practical and Simple

Utility Smartly Interpreted.

PATTERN 2071
Cottons are so popular this season that the utility frock made to wear at home is no longer merely serviceable; it closely resembles the cotton frocks which many of the smartest women wear all day long during the summer months. This model, from a practical point of view, has a faint resemblance to the Hoover apron in the way its front lap over and the closing achieved by a snap passing through a slot, features that endow it to the back, hurried housewife. But it also shows a relationship to the leading styles in cotton frocks in its flaring flounce, the contrasting diagonal collar and short sleeves.

Obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Yardage for every size and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.
